What are prepress services?: Before we get into the specifics of digital prepress services, let's get a clear picture of what prepress services involve. Prepress services are simply used to print a digital file. Imagine you need to print a report you wrote on your computer for your upcoming presentation. Naturally, before you click "print", you will make sure everything looks as it should.

Similarly, prepress works on a larger scale, especially for important projects like printed cards, banners, and packaging. It requires more than just clicking a button; you have to adjust colors, enhance photos, and set up pages to make sure everything prints perfectly. In professional printing, digital prepress uses specialized software and equipment to make sure the finished print meets the client's expectations and is of the highest quality.
